Council Decides Against Bishop Street Closing

Six homeowners voiced strong opposition to the proposed closing of a portion of Bishop Street at Monday's regular meeting of the St. Albert Town Council. Council had previously given first reading to the by-law 16/68 and proposed to tear up the pavement on a portion of Bishop Street to create a saleable residential lot. Briefs objecting to the street closure were presented by Mrs. R. S. Hanson, Mr. S. J. Stephens, Mr. W. T. Chiles and Mr. W. Thiele. Messrs. M. K. Schuster and R. E. Davidson spoke in support of the briefs.

Teachers Inducted

The St. Albert Local of the Alberta Teachers' Association held its annual Induction Ceremony at the Club Mocombo, Friday evening. The induction ceremony has been purposefully planned to make teachers, new to the teaching profession or to teaching in Alberta, aware of their professional responsibilities to parents, pupils, colleagues and country.

This year a total of 37 teachers were inducted into the teaching force in St. Albert. Seven are with the St. Albert Public School District and thirty are with the St. Albert Protestant Separate School District.

St. Albert has attracted teachers from all three corners of the globe with inductees hailing from such places as the British Isles, Sweden, Australia, Kenya, Jamaica, South Africa and the Philippines. A former Paul Kane High School graduate was also welcomed into the teaching profession.

Following the induction ceremony the Local Association of the ATA, together with the Boards of the Districts were pleased to have the pleasure of honoring two retiring teachers, Miss Marie Wolniwicz and Mrs. Henrietta Reid.

Bulbs

Next week plan to stock up on light bulbs when the Lions come calling. They will be around on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday. Your purchases will boost your community and conveniently restock your supply. A good deal all around.

Councillor Gibbon said he received one telephone call from a homeowner who also objected to the proposed street closure. There was one petition before council in support of the by-law. After a lengthy discussion council voted unanimously in favor of Mr. Gibbon's motion not to proceed with the Bishop Street closure. Councillor Richard Wheately, who lives on Bishop Street, abstained from voting and Councillor J. J. Bakker who arrived later, and J. de Bruijn were not present.

In other council business Mr. Andre Gate of Parks and Recreation was instructed to obtain cost estimates for the erection of a skating rink shelter in Mission Park. The Calgary Power franchise matter was tabled since Councillor de Bruijn was unable to be present.

Retired Teachers Honored

by Hennie Stibbe

Two long time members of the teaching profession, Mrs. Henrietta Reid, 51 Gillian Crescent and Miss Marie Wolniwicz, 7 Madonna Drive, were honored on the occasion of their retirement after having devoted a total of 64 years to helping youngsters gain an education. Both ladies received gifts from the St. Albert Local Alberta Teachers Association. Mr. R. Harvey presented Mrs. Reid with a Book Certificate on behalf of the St. Albert Separate Protestant School District and Miss Wolniwicz was presented with a set of luggage by Mr. D. Fraser on behalf of the St. Albert Public School District. Mr. R. V. Mundell, District Representative ATA, awarded Miss Wolniwicz a lifetime membership in the association.

Marie Wolniwicz

"A shining example of all that teachers stand for" said David Fraser, chairman, public school board, of Miss Wolniwicz who has devoted 46 years to teaching, 40 in the town of St. Albert. She taught for two years in Edmonton, then moved to Legal where she taught at the high school. Forty years ago she came to St. Albert to teach grades 1 and 2 at the "old brick school" which stood behind the present public board office. That first year Miss Wolniwicz had 73 children in her class. The next year two teachers were added to the staff, bringing the total number to six, and Miss Wolniwicz saw her class reduced to "only 64" pupils! "We had them sitt-

Councillor Bakker's motion that the Town of St. Albert participate in the 911 emergency telephone number service at a cost of $236 per month was defeated.

Acting on a report by the Fire Chief, which was not made available to the press, council voted in favor of Councillor Lukay's motion that the fire siren on top of Town Hall continue to be sounded daily until such time as the new siren arrives.

Council approved pass 1-9 of a report, which was not made available to the press, regarding the sale of town owned lots, Item No. 10 of this report was referred to the Public Works Committee.

It was carried unanimously that a draft resolution re separate tax notices

Henrietta Reid

Mrs. Henrietta Reid was born in Minneapolis. She started her teaching career in Vermillion, Alberta, in 1920. She took time out to raise two sons, both of whom graduated from the University of Alberta. Her elder son, Theodore, received his Ph.D. at Ames, Iowa, and is presently with the National Science Foundation in Washington, D.C. Mrs. Reid's other son, Glen, received his B.Ed. from the University of Alberta and is now teaching at George Simpson Junior High, his mother having "recruited" him. He lives at 48 Garden Crescent.

Mrs. Reid upgraded her standards at the Universities of Saskatchewan and Alberta. She returned to teaching in 1954 and joined the St. Albert Separate Pro-

Andre Gate resigns Takes new position at Moose Jaw

Parks and Recreation superintendent Mr. Andre Gate submitted his resignation to the secretary treasurer of the Town of St. Albert yesterday. The resignation is effective October 31. Mr. Gate will assume duties as superintendent of Parks and Recreation of the city of Moose Jaw on November 1. He will have a staff of 51 in his department. Mr. Gate joined the town of St. Albert in 1958 as a laborer and was promoted to parks foreman one year later. When the parks department was created in 1959 Mr. Gate was appointed as its director. He became parks superintendent in 1963 and was appointed to his present position in 1964.

When Mr. Gate came to St. Albert 11 years ago the town had a population of 1200 and there was one skating rink. The town nurseries were not yet in existence and there were no landscaped boulevards and very few trees.

Family Life Series begins next week

A wonderful opportunity is being offered St. Albert residents in the form of a family life enrichment series to be held here on six consecutive Tuesday evenings from Oct. 1 to Nov. 5. The program features outstanding guest speakers on a number of topics designed to aid better family living in the community. The series which is jointly sponsored by all denominations of St. Albert churches, their women's groups, and Edmonton Family Services, will offer group discussions and question periods on a wide range of topics of interest to married couples. The theme is "Talking Things Over".

Dr. R. C. Arnot, Psychiatrist from Alberta Hospital, will speak to the first meeting on Oct. 1 on the topic "Growth of Family Love". Sister Patricia McMahon, a social worker from Manulife, will speak on "Communications within the Family" on Oct. 8, and "Sex in Marriage" is the topic of Dr. Bernard Redentier, Edmonton obstetrician and gynaecologist for the third Tuesday.

Peanut night Friday

The Peanut Vendors will be out in full force this Friday evening when the St. Albert Kinsmen hold their Annual Peanut Night, assisted by local youngsters.

Thirteen and one half ounce tins of Cocktail Peanuts will be sold for just one dollar, buy several and support the Kinsmen in their many community projects.

Today, visitors to St. Albert frequently comment on the attractive appearance of the town which now boasts a swimming pool, four hockey rinks, three social skating rinks, four tennis courts a recreation centre and an arts centre.

Mr. Gate instigated the joint use agreement which was born out of a close association with both St. Albert school districts. St. Albert was the first community in Alberta to have a joint use agreement completed. In the field of recreation Mr. Gate has worked out a system which makes the widest possible use of the town's excellent pool of experienced volunteer leadership in a wide area of activities.

Mr. Gate says he likes St. Albert very much and did not arrive at his decision to leave the community lightly.

He has been a member of the Association of Parks and Recreation of Alberta

Arts & Crafts Centre Opens Saturday

St. Albert's new Arts and Crafts Centre will be officially opened at one o'clock on Saturday, Sept. 28, with an Open House following between 2 and 5 p.m.

Opening ceremonies will be conducted by the Mayor his representative and special guests will include representatives from the Cultural Development Branch and the Department of Youth.

The new centre is unique in the province, being the only one of its kind open to children from age six years and up. Plans are underway to extend the children's program to include four to six years olds as well. People from the Cultural Development Branch have shown interest and a considerable enthusiasm for the work.

Retired Railroader Feted

Mr. B. Morin of 96 Mission Ave., was honored recently when Mr. and Mrs. Dan Richardson of the same address, feted him on the occasion of his retirement from the Northern Alberta Railways Co., after 46 years of service. Mr. Morin, who will be celebrating his 65th birthday next month, was employed as a leading electrician with the N.A.R.

More than 20 relatives and friends gathered to honor Mr. Morin who has been a resident of St. Albert for the past 26 years. He was born in Lamoureux, Alberta. Mr. Morin hopes to do some travelling in the months ahead. He plans to visit his sons and daughter in Whitehorse, Cornwall and Montreal.

If you plan to be out Friday evening you can place your order by telephoning Bob McMaster at 599-6244.

Registrations will be taken for both adults and children wishing to take any of the courses being offered at the centre during Saturday afternoon's open house program. A cordial invitation is extended to all residents of St. Albert to drop in on Saturday afternoon, whether or not they will be participating in any of the programs.

Al-Anon group meets weekly

The St. Albert Al-Anon group that meet regularly each Tuesday evening now have a new permanent meeting room in the Braeside Presbyterian Church at Bernard Drive and Sir Winston Churchill Avenue. Members consist of the family and friends of persons with a problem caused by alcohol, and everyone interested is welcomed to the meetings. Al-Anon is considered a self-improvement program. People wishing additional information may telephone Mrs. Joyce Smith at 599-6601, extension 4.

A report on procedure which had been circulated (no press copy) was received.

Council reviewed the Fire Department report for the month of August, no copy of which was made available to the press.

The Public Works Committee report was received.

When council adjourned after 11 p.m., some eight items on the agenda had not been dealt with and no councillors new business was heard. There being five Mondays in September, council will meet again in regular session Sept. 30.

Editors Note. Background reports under discussion by town council Monday night were not made available to the Gazette reporter this week, although requested. This represents a rare departure from Council policy and we expect the situation will be rectified for future meetings, in order to make public a more complete account of council deliberations.

St. Matthew's Anglican Church women report a most successful rummage sale. The people of St. Albert were very generous in their support and donated a multitude of goods for the sale which was held last Saturday at the Jasper Place Legion. When the last customer left the hall, unsold goods were taken to the St. Martin's Home, the Camell Hospital and the Marian Centre where they were gratefully accepted.

ing on apple boxes," she smiles.

When Father Jan School was built Miss Wolniewicz joined the staff there and stayed until her retirement. She holds a Bachelor of Education degree from the University of Alberta.

What was St. Albert like 40 years ago? It was very small, said Miss Wolniewicz. There were a couple of stores, no bus and no taxi. One man who owned a car would take paying passengers into the city on Saturdays. There was one doctor who "would sometimes extract teeth when he was asked". Miss Wolniewicz has taught many second generations and in one case taught the grand child of a former pupil. A seasoned traveller, Miss Wolniewicz has journeyed to Europe three times, visited her native Poland as well as Vietnam, Thailand, the Philippines, Hong Kong, Hawaii and numerous other countries. She toured the South American continent where she visited all countries except the Gulana's and Bolivia. Her immediate plans? Possibly another trip, nothing definite yet. Miss Wolniewicz presently serves on the St. Albert Library Board and is a member of the Youville Auxiliary and the CWL.

Weekends find Mrs. Reid in front of her television, watching the football games. An avid fan, she admits to being partial to the Stampers and especially likes Peter Liske.

In the past nine years Mrs. Reid has grown very fond of St. Albert. "It's such a friendly town", she says, "a good place for any young person to start life off in". Mrs. Reid plans to continue making her home in St. Albert and be near her son and daughter-in-law and granddaughter Roberta Sue. She plans to do a bit of travelling and hopes to visit relations in British Columbia and also spend sometime with her son and daughter-in-law in Washington, where there is another grandchild, young Leslie Foster.

Ferguson another name for goals

If Dougie Ferguson happens to stub a toe this week, he'll probably get the normal amount of sympathy and the normal number of heehaws.

If, however, he happens to stub a couple of toes and if they happen to be on separate feet, the chorus of moans will be heard all over town.

Coming Events

OCT. 2 - Rehearsal for St. Albert Singers in United Church basement. Singers from high school age up are invited.

OCTOBER 2 - The St. Albert Chapter of the A.A.R.N. will hold its first meeting of the 1968-69 season Wednesday, Oct. 2, at 7:45 p.m. at the Youville Home. Guest speaker Dr. R. F. Taylor invites you to "come and see what's in Pandora's Box nowadays." All nurses and nursing aides are cordially invited.

You see, this young man's talented feet will probably spell the difference between victory and defeat when the city soccer champion St. Albert bantams meet Avonmore in the Challenge Cup final at the Kinsmen Field House Sunday afternoon.

It has been a remarkable year for Ferguson, in soccer and in hockey.

In 10 league games, two challenge cup contests and two matches against Calgary the husky 14 year old centre forward scored 35 goals. At one stage he scored seven goals in consecutive games and added two in the next for a total of 16 in three contests.

Playing in Calgary the St. Albert team won 3-0 and 2-0. Ferguson got all the goals.

"Pound for pound, he's probably the best soccer player in Alberta right now", says Lloyd Hopkins, one of the top promoters of soccer in St. Albert.

"He's a two-way player. He can score, with both feet, and he can check."

Coach John Dalgety, who has moulded a fine defensive squad to support Ferguson's fine scoring touch, agrees, but like Hopkins, he is quick to spread the praise around.

"There's no doubt Doug is our scorer", he says, "but the whole team works well together. They all do their jobs."

Hopkins claims all of Ferguson's value to the team is not contained in his scoring ability. "He's a great team man," he says. "The boys look to him for leadership. He never tells you about the goals he scores, but about the ones the other boys got or the plays they made."

Doug played hockey in the city last winter, tolling for Vets Sheet Metal in bantam AA. He led the league in scoring with 22 goals and 23 assists in 24 games.

Doug is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ferguson of 8 Garden Crescent.

BANTAMS CITY CHAMPS

The St. Albert bantam soccer team kept its undefeated streak alive Sunday afternoon, and in the bargain pocketed the city championship.

St. Albert defeated Edmonton Boys' Club 1-0, Doug Ferguson scoring the only goal of the game on a pass from linemate Brian Souloco.

Both clubs had entered the final league game undefeated, the city team with a 9-0 record and St. Albert with eight wins and a tie. The victory gave St. Albert 19 points, one more than the Boys' Club.

St. Albert will attempt to pick up another trophy Sunday afternoon, tackling Avonmore in the Challenge Cup final in the Kinsmen Field House.

The bantams will not be the only St. Albert team in action Sunday.

The midget team, which won the city championship

bike race set back

The 50-mile bicycle race scheduled for St. Albert last Sunday has been postponed for two or three weeks.

"We decided to call it off Saturday," race organizer Peter McCaffery told the Gazette. "We just couldn't count on the weather and we had a lot of racers coming from Calgary and Red Deer"

He said a new date would probably be set next week.

last week, will meet Ital Canadians at 12 noon. The bantam game will follow and there will be continuous action until 6 p.m., as four games will be played.

The victory over the Boys' Club was the second of the season for St. Albert. The first was a 2-1 effort in the second round of the Challenge Cup.

The St. Albert bantams can expect to have their hands full at the Field House, as Avonmore is the team that held them to a 1-1 tie in league play.

St. Albert prepped for the game against Boys' Club with an 8-0 victory over Delwood Friday night. In that game, Ferguson scored five goals, Gary Larsen two, and Darrell Tate the other.

The bantams are coached by John Dalgety.

The midgets, guided to the city championship by Steen Hansen, have been coached by Brian O'Kell in the Challenge cup matches as Mr. Hansen was forced to retire because of pressure of business.

With the boys playing the finals on foreign ground, St. Albertans are urged to go along and lend their support. Tickets, at $1. for adults and 25¢ for children, are available from Mrs. Kay Hopkins, 17 Geneva Crescent (phone 599-7887).

The Candidates Express Their Views

RAY GIBBON

The only way to economize within our town is by cash purchases out of current revenue. Our maximum interest rate on debentures is currently 8% which doubles the price of the purchase in less than ten years.

Your present council have been using current revenue (cash) purchasing wherever possible. Some examples are the teen centre, swimming pool bath house extension and a centre for the St Albert Creative School Society and Craft Guild, plus other organized groups. It is expected costs of these items will be reclaimed by the town through application to the Department of Youth under the Recreation Development Act. Currently under consideration is a skating rink shelter for Mission Park.

Unfortunately large pro-

DON BULL

The town has a political problem more than a financial problem.

There are many things that can be said but it was all said when you received your tax notice.

Two councillors are running for office. Past experience indicates the treat-grams such as road recapping still require debentures. Hopefully over the next three years Council will be able to put the road program under a cash reserve program, so as to eliminate debenture borrowing in this area as well. Any cuts in debenture borrowing for purchases mean a decrease in debt payments over the years.

Regarding economy in the area of town staff, I would point out there have been reductions in the number of employees over the past ment you will receive by electing incumbents.

The town needs a new political outlook. It requires men of imagination who will follow the rules of democracy and business.

Continued discouragement of residential, commercial and industrial development can only result in increased taxes.

Civic red tape, poor planning and politics have created a very serious problem.

In running for Mayor, it is not my intention to play politician. This is strictly a matter of business.

year, leaving us with a minimum required work force who are above average in production. Any further cuts will result in a loss of services.

I am personally opposed to amalgamation at this time. However, as a councillor, when a plebiscite has been carried to which I have been opposed, I have been able to work for the item requested by a majority of the citizens.

If anyone has any questions they are invited to call me at 599-7614.

JOHN de BRUIJN

It has been suggested high taxes are an issue in the forthcoming election. There is not a magic formula for the reduction of property taxes, however I believe the town council in conjunction with the other elected bodies in the municipality should make strong representations to the provincial government to change the basis of the Home Owner Grant.

The concept behind this legislation was to soften the burden of our real property taxes. This being the case a blanket $50.00 grant does not properly compensate the individuals who are paying the highest property taxes. As an alternative I think a grant based on the following would assist those presently paying relatively high municipal taxes.

The grant received by

RENE KAMBOUROFF

As a councillor one of the first moves I would undertake would be to get the Commercial and Industrial Development Committee moving. In view of the importance of establishing the best possible climate for attracting light industry to our Town, I feel there is no time to be lost. A growing industrial base is the only way to bring any substantial

The basic function of a town council is to establish policy and make decisions, and it is in this decision making capacity that I believe that I can make a contribution.

The decisions we make during the next two years will decide our future for years to come and we can no longer afford to ignore some of the economic facts of life.

Our school enrollment equals 34% of our population, which is the highest in Alberta - 1/5th of our as-home owners should be based on the mill rate presently existing in their municipality on the first $2,000. of assessment. As an example a St. Albert home owner would receive $156.00 compared to an Edmonton home owner who would receive $131.00. This system could be varied in many ways.

If re-elected to council I will propose the necessary steps be taken to convince the senior government of the merits of the foregoing proposal.

If re-elected I will propose the council investigate the feasibility of developing an industrial park for light industry within the town.

If re-elected I will request the council to approach the provincial highways department to provide access from the highway to the central area which is proposed for commercial development.

KAMBOUROFF

relief to St. Albert ratepayers.

In reply to some questions I have been asked regarding having one or two school boards in St. Albert, this is a matter which in no way involves the town or councillors, and in which they cannot have any say whatsoever.

In order to supply more clear information on town affairs to the ratepayers, I feel the town should adopt a system of including with the prescribed annual financial statement form, a more detailed supplemental breakdown. The regulation form does not supply insufficient detail, information as to how our tax dollars are spent. Ratepayers are entitled to a fuller breakdown.

I would work also to implement an anti-noise by-law as soon as possible. Traffic noise after midnight by motor scooters and screeching tires is at an intolerable level right now on some thoroughfares. A by-law is needed to enable police to bring it under control.

essment is exempt from taxation - during the next three years our population will increase by 50% and by 1981 it will reach 35,000.

These factors, added to an already severe imbalance in property taxation which hits the home owner, makes it essential that council take firm action with respect to any future developments or our taxes will continue to rise.

Whether we amalgamate or not, there are many matters that must be dealt with by town council. We need to make a sincere effort to attract commerce and other taxable assessments - We have to take a hard look at each development proposal to ensure that adequate land is available for schools - We need to review our policy with respect to the sale of town land and commercial zoning - We need to plan now to move the garbage dump, and to plan for additional water resources and sewage facilities.

At least, if there are any such persons around, they sure haven't made their existence known to Mrs. L. Phillips of the St. Albert Y.M.C.A., by telephoning 599-6445. The St. Albert Y is in dire need of a swimming instructor (male or female, over 15 years of age and in possession of a Star 5) to help out Saturday mornings at the West-end Y. Light Horse Club Planned for Gibbons

A 4-H Light Horse Club will be organized at Gibbons for 1968-69. All youths between the ages of 12 (on or before Jan. 1, 1969) and 20 years old, children under 12 interested in a Pee Wee Club, plus parents and prospective leaders are invited to attend the organizational meeting on Oct. 8 at 7:30 p.m. It will be held at the Gibbons Sunday School building located west of the Gibbons Auto Court.

Health Clinic Important step

The following is an excerpt of an article carried in a recent issue of "Within Our Borders" a provincial government publication.

Dr. J. M. Howell, medical officer of health of the Sturgeon Health Unit planned and supervised the successful program.

A pioneering step in preventive medicine was taken by the Sturgeon Health Unit at the Thorhild County Office with Alberta's first public multiple health screening program. Only a handful of such screenings have been held in Canada.

Planning and arrangements for the screening program were carried out by the Sturgeon Health Unit, officials of Thorhild County, the private doctors in the district and representatives from the community. A coordinating committee was formed under which separate screening days were set up for residents of the Thorhild, Newbrook, Radway and Redwater areas. The preventive health program, billed as an exercise in "Preventicare," received the close co-operation of the Alberta Government Department of Health, the Provincial Laboratory, the University of Alberta and University Hospital and voluntary bodies such as the Canadian Cancer Association, the Canadian Mental Health Association and the Alberta Tuberculosis Association.

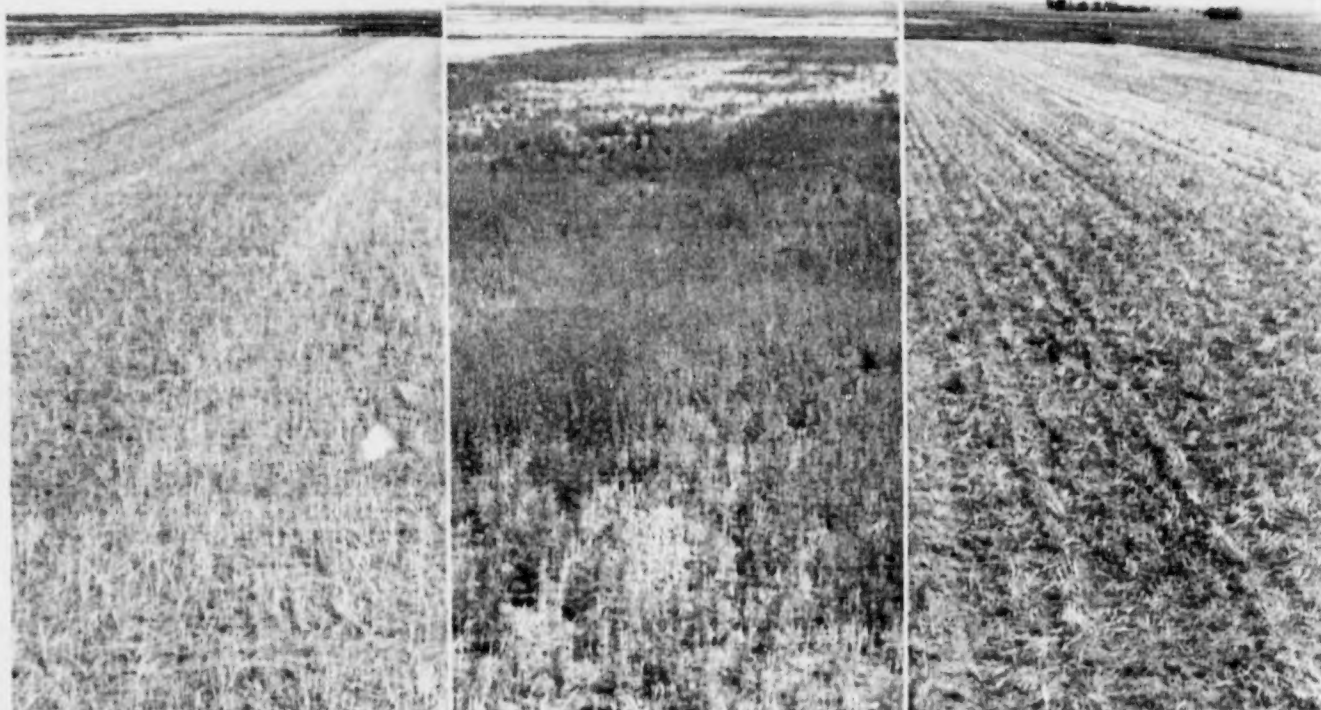

The screening program points up the increasing emphasis being placed on the preventive aspect of the work of health units throughout Alberta. The program was based on the premise that many diseases may be contracted years before symptoms become readily apparent, yet which may be detected by careful early medical tests. The screenings at Thorhild were designed to probe for several of the more serious diseases which are prone to go unnoticed for considerable periods of time. At the same time, the clinics were utilized for a general immunization program against tetanus and polio and for general public health education.

Thorhild County covers an area of more than 850 square miles with a population of close to six thousand persons. Only adults were invited to attend the clinics and of these 1,340 turned out to take advantage of the proffered facilities. In each case where the tests performed indicated the possible existence of disease, the patient's regular doctor was notified of the results of the tests taken

Late spraying best for weed control

These fields show that spraying is the most effective way to control winter annual weeds. The field on the left was sprayed with 2,4-D ester, the center field was untouched and the field on the right was cultivated.

During recent years two winter annual weeds, stinkweed and flaxweed, have become increasingly troublesome in the semiarid region of the Canadian prairies. Studies at Canada Department of Agriculture's Research Station at Swift Current show that late autumn spraying with a 2,4-D ester at 6 ounces per acre is effective in controlling these weeds. Late fall tillage has also proved effective. However, Agronomist C.H. Anderson says that fall tillage is not recommended as a general practice because it exposes fallow land to soil erosion by wind, and on crop land the stubble is dislodged and less snow is held on the field for moisture conservation.

In 1967, fall spraying was delayed until September 27 when winter annual weed growth had just commenced.

The Public Be Damned

Why housing costs so much

A friend of ours has just completed a beautiful house on a valuable piece of waterfront property. She can afford this luxury and was prepared to pay for what she wanted. So it came as a shock to discover that there were a number of people in the building trades and services who seemed to be almost determined that she wouldn't get it. It was nothing personal, mind you; nor were they resentful in any way of her good fortune. It was more that they didn't seem to give a damn whether she got it or not.

We don't need to tell you how often people complain about this attitude nor of all the frustration it causes. But there were several incidents that Mrs. X sees now in retrospect as being downright funny, although there was nothing amusing about them at the time.

First there was the kitchen sink. Our friend had seen what she wanted in California. It had so many gadgets on it that it looked like the dashboard on a space ship. It was in fact, almost out of this world. She contacted the manufacturer and learned, exactly what had to be done to take delivery of its twin brother or sister in Canada. Then she gave the order to her local plumber, unaware at the time that it is part of the plumbing ritual to sit on such an order for at least eight weeks before taking further action. Meanwhile she proceeded with a matching colour scheme for her kitchen. The sink, which was a stock item, arrived six months after placing the order; but there was no joy in Mudville when the crate was opened because the mighty Casey had ordered the wrong colour. Or someone had.

Five months later another sink arrived. The colour was right so the carpenter cut the hole in the counter. This time however, someone had forgotten to pack the sink rim. If it takes five months to deliver a sink you can guess that it will require two months for a sink rim and that's how it worked out. All the while our lady gazed forlornly at the empty hole in her kitchen and washed her dishes in the laundry. More than a year after she had first ordered her treasure she overheard the plumber say, as he finally turned on the water, "Well if that isn't the goddamndest piece of nonsense I've ever seen."

Feelings may still be a bit brittle since the postal strike. But let's not overlook the fact that postal employees seem to be sometimes just as determined not to give satisfaction to the public. They do provide their pay cheques after all.

Mrs. X's new home is on a rural delivery route. Her first inquiry was met with the declaration that if, we only had a decent government there'd be lots of mail boxes. When she made it clear that she was not there to discuss politics she was directed ten miles away from where she eventually did procure a box. By the time she had it painted, lettered and installed her investment in it was $45.

Two days later a community box was installed 100 ft. down the road and she was told the courier wouldn't be able to make a stop just for her, she'd have to move hers alongside. When she complied, she learned that there was space already provided for her and that was where her mail would be delivered. The time elapsed, while left and right hands fumbled with each other over this simple piece of routine, was ten days. The rudeness she encountered was unpardonable.

Finally we must mention the wall-to-wall carpet. Soon after it was laid it started to unravel like a sweater. If that was all there was to it there'd be no story. But they were a little sticky about replacing it and she had to make a special 600 mile trip to see the man in charge. You wouldn't dare to guess what happened next. When the replacement did arrive it was the wrong colour.

Not surprisingly our neighbour has some very abrasive things to say about those who are serving our industry. Is this what to expect, she asks, when you plan to build a house? If so, it must be very expensive; who pays the cost of all these stupid errors? She knows the answer, of course - the public pays, its part of the reason that houses cost so much. Finally, she'd be interested to know what we are doing to combat this attitude of: The Public Be Damned.

at the screening. The patient would then visit his doctor who would verify the results indicated by the tests and, if warranted, would carry out treatment.

Mechanics of the screening were deceptively simple in appearance but were the result of much careful consideration.

The value of the screening program is being studied. It has already elicited commendations from doctors in private practice and has resulted in about two hundred persons learning of hitherto unsuspected symptoms that may indicate a danger to their health. One person was discovered to be suffering from no fewer than five different ailments. In the case of one woman who attended the clinic on a Wednesday, a test indicated the possible presence of cancer within a week of the original test doctors at the hospital had removed an early cancer.

By April 30 this year, stubble fields sprayed in 1967 were free of weeds; unsprayed fields averaged two stinkweed and seven flixweed plants per five square feet. Fields which were worked as summer-fallow and sprayed September 27 were also free of winter annual weed growth this spring. Unsprayed fields contained 28 stinkweed and 23 flixweed plants for a total of 51 per five square feet. These weed populations represent sizeable infestations and demonstrate the value of late fall spraying.

Mr. Anderson says late fall spraying made it possible to delay the first summer-fallow operation well into June. Spraying held an advantage over cultivation because the standing stubble trapped snow for moisture storage and the operation was less expensive.

It has been noted that flixweed and stinkweed may not start to grow until late September or early October. Consequently, it is advisable to delay fall spraying until October unless there is an extensive growth of winter annuals at an earlier date.

I understand the St. Albert high school students will be having graduation exercises in October. All pupils have gone on to higher education, or vocational work. Several have gone on to university, others to N.A.I.T. school, some to training schools of different cultures.

Many of the local students are going to St. Joseph's high school to begin their choice of vocational training along with regular high school studies.

St. Joseph's high school had their graduation exercise Sept. 8, when Kasper Hlava was among the 92 graduates. They had a church service at the Roman Catholic Cathedral first, then went to the auditorium of the school for their rewards and Certificate of Graduation, all being very impressive.

Kasper had plans of going to Agricultural College, this fall term, but has been detained for the time being, staying home to help his mother and grandfather harvest the crop. Since the passing away of his father it leaves him with a serious and responsible job to under take.

Don't store grain with last year's

Farmers who store this year's grain with last year's crop run the risk of ruining both.

Dr. R. N. Sinha, an insect ecologist with the Canada Department of Agriculture's Research Station Winnipeg, says that this year's crop is heavily infested with a field mold, Alternaria, which will stimulate reproduction of rusty grain beetles and grain mites.

There is a very real danger of widespread heating and outbreaks of insects and mites.

That's why Dr. Sinha says farmers should avoid contaminating last year's high quality grain by mixing it with this year's damp or moldy crop.

Research by Dr. Sinha, Mr. H. A. H. Wallace and others at the Winnipeg Research Station shows that damp grains are highly susceptible to mold heating in the fall and early winter. Drier grain is prone to heating because of heavy rusty grain beetle infestations. Insect heating is most common in the southern part of the prairie provinces.

If there is a shortage of storage space, rather than mixing the crops Dr. Sinha says farmers should erect relatively inexpensive temporary structures.

Dr. Sinha adds these other tips on grain storage:

* Clean, repair and weatherproof empty granaries. Burn or bury the sweepings.

* Spray floors and inside walls with malathion or pyrethrins - piperonyl butoxide.

* Harvest grain as dry as possible because insects, mites and molds increase rapidly in tough grain.

* Avoid storing grain in bins next to animal feeds that are likely to be infested.

* Fill granaries only to the top plates to provide ample crawl space and to allow for ventilation.

* If the grain has been binned tough, examine it every four days by shoving a metal rod into the grain. If the rod heats up, the grain should be turned and allowed to cool. Grain that is both dry and cool seldom spoils.

up to $3. an hour in your own home". My quarrel is primarily with the companies employing these tactics and I have vowed to never buy their products.

I sincerely wish something could be done to discourage these telephone campaigns. Maybe an outrageously high license fee would help to deter some companies from using this method of merchandising. I don't mind taking part in a legitimate telephone survey or opinion poll, but when some gal on the telephone offers me a subscription to seven different magazines for "only 47 cents a week" and neglects to point out that these magazines are published monthly, I get pretty annoyed.

Then there's the pitch that promises to place "at absolutely no cost to you" a stereo in your home. The bit about the monthly records, at $4.98 each plus a small handling and mailing charge, for the next 54 months, does not come until later.

There is too much of this sort of thing going on. There are far too many unscrupulous sales people who prey on the uninformed. Every once in awhile you'll hear of some unsuspecting person being conned into a life time supply of powdered milk, at a much higher monthly cost than their dairy bill had been. They're paying double, but, by gum, they're getting a "free" blender!

The high pressure salesmen with their "free gifts" and gimmicks have their victims so confused they don't know what they're getting into.

Government legislation now has provided for a "cooling off" period which allows one to reconsider and get out of a contract. This is a step in the right direction, but much more attention needs to be given to this whole area.

Remember, a reputable firm will always welcome your enquiries and will respect your request for time to investigate before finalizing a purchase. When in doubt, consult the Better Business Bureau, and for goodness sake, don't be rushed into signing anything!

Unions facing tougher laws

Legislative limits on the way in which unions handle power are likely to increase over the next few years says The Financial Post. The climate is right, he says. Legal and academic thinkers are increasingly critical of organized labor. Public opinion towards unions appears increasingly short tempered. The latest example of the tide that seems to be running against organized labor, is last week's report in Ontario by the Rand Royal Commission on Labor Disputes. Labor was roughly handled by some of the major recommendations and opinions in the report. The report's most widely talked about recommendation, of course, was the one urging that certain public services be declared essential and employees in them be prohibited from striking. This and the current climate against labor, The Financial Post says, reflects dissatisfaction with public service strikes during the past two or three years.

FALL FOLIAGE CALLS FOR COLOR

This is the right time to go camera hunting for full color pictures of lavish autumn colors. The trees are displaying their most brilliant hues, so seek out the best vantage points and shoot away.

Remember that the basic rules of good composition apply as well to color shots as they do to black and white. Keep the main lines as simple and dramatic as possible, allowing the colors to help lead the eye to the centre of interest.

Scout around a bit for a likely vantage point. As in our illustration, foreground trees and people help tie the scene together. Frequently, a colorful barn or other object in the middle distance, well spaced among the trees and lower bushes, adds definite interest without detracting from the colorful foliage itself.

applications to the Alberta Federation of Agriculture, 521 Revillon Bldg. Edmonton. The deadline for receiving applications at the foregoing address will be October 25, 1968. Application forms and related information will be available at the Alberta Federation of Agriculture Office. These scholarships are available, one for Western Canada and one for Eastern Canada, to young men and women, active, or planning to be active, in farming.

Applicants between the ages of 30 and 35 years will be given preference. The scholarship provides funds for travel and living, and will provide the successful applicant an opportunity to study farming practices and conditions in Great Britain.

The period away from home will be roughly from February 1969 to August 1969. It is the desire of the Foundation that all winners will make an effort on their return home, to acquaint farmers in their area with observations and information gained.

Check Food labels for measurements

Do you ever have reason to doubt the accuracy of the utensils you use in your kitchen when you measure the ingredients to make your favorite recipe?

Have you discovered some confusion in relation to the milk in the bottle and the measuring cup -- or with the measurement embossed on the side of a pot or pan?

One reason for this confusion is the difference in the measurement standards in Canada and the United States.

Some of the utensils we use are of American manufacture and others are Canadian -- and that can throw your measurements out, because the American fluid ounce is larger than the Canadian ounce by about one sixth.

In ounces, this doesn't sound too much to be concerned about -- but in quarts and gallons, it makes quite a difference. The Canadian (or Imperial) quart contains 40 fluid Canadian ounces -- the American quart contains 33.5 fluid Canadian ounces.

Apart from this international confusion the Consumer's Association of Canada has found that these measuring devices do not always tell the truth, no matter how carefully and completely they may be marked.

Alert members of CAC in St. John's, Newfoundland, spotted a 32-oz. carton of milk introduced by one of the local dairies at the same price as the 40-oz. carton and organized "the battle of the bottle." Housewives were alerted to the situation and urged not to buy the small quart in order to force it off the market. When questioned, the manager of the dairy explained that the new container was a very much improved carton and that he felt the people would get used to it.

From this study of liquids in cartons came another interesting discovery. Conventional cans of fruits, vegetables and juices were wearing labels which did not always tell the truth.

Have you noticed that recently your canned goods say 14 oz. and 19 oz. for example instead of 15 oz. and 20 oz.? This is the result of a request from CAC to the Department of Agriculture to give consumers a more precise indication of the amount contained in cans of processed fruits and vegetables. The cans still hold the same amount but now the labels tell the truth.

All this just adds up to the fact that many manufacturers are not making their products to Canada standards.

Exhibition of Art

A great Canadian's collection of paintings of his country will go on exhibition when the Vincent Massey Bequest is opened at the National Gallery of Canada September 19. It will continue through October 20.

This selection of the 92 paintings from the Massey home, Batterwood House, near Port Hope, Ontario, was made by R. H. Hubbard, chief curator of the National Gallery, according to the terms of the will. It is a testimony to Vince Massey's attitude to art and his country: "Art," he told the Royal Society of Canada in 1930, "is not a medium for self-conscious nationalism, but rather a natural expression of national character."

His choice of paintings is a faithful reflection of the Canadian art scene in his time. He bought from the annual exhibitions in Toronto of the group of Seven and of its successor, the Canadian Group of Painters. He had, however, a special regard for David Milne which developed when he and his wife, Alice, were greatly taken with one of Milne's wildflower studies. Twenty seven of these works are included in this exhibition. This is the second and the more personal of the Massey collections of paintings to be presented to the nation: the first was of English painting.

Dr. Hubbard, in the catalogue he prepared for the exhibition, writes: "This collection showed every sign of having been chosen for the love of each individual picture rather than with the desire for full representation."
